Tonight Is Last For Free Clinics

800 Ulster County Dogs Still Await Serum Against Rabies

Ulster county has 800 inoculations to go in its program of immunization against rabies. It was announced today by the Ulster County Rabies Advisory Council which stressed that tonight is the last night of the free rabies vaccination clinics, originally scheduled.

Five of the remaining 10 clinics last night produced 619 additional inoculations to bring the total to 7,319 which is 60.8 per cent of the 8,190 goal.

The county must achieve 70 per cent inoculations of its enumerated dogs before the immunized dogs will be allowed to run at large.

The goal is not expected to be reached at the five remaining free clinics tonight, but the inoculation of dogs in kennels and many others individually owned, still to be immunized, is expected to bring the required total by the middle of next week.

Responses at Highland and New Paltz were reported good and it is expected that additional clinics will be held there, a health official said.

Separate totals last night were: Port Jervis, 95; Phoenixia, 100; Rosendale, 107; Centerville, 192 and East Kingston, 125.

Final clinics tonight will be at Stone Ridge, St. Remy, Hurley, Big Indian and Gardiner.

Thrown From Car

New York Man Is Hurt Seriously in Freak Florida Accident

Melbourne, Fla., Aug. 13 (AP)—Raymond Amoury, 20, of Port Richmond, N. Y., was seriously injured late yesterday when thrown from his father's automobile four miles south of here.

Florida highway patrolman William P. Brooks said the automobile, driven by Alphonse A. Amoury, skidded off the road, hit a tree and was deflected back onto the highway where it side-swiped a southbound car driven by Miss Maude Austin of Belton, S. C.

The impact threw both Amoury and his son from the car and Raymond Amoury fell under Miss Austin's car.

The youth suffered fractures of both legs and lacerations. He was taken to Brevard Hospital here.

Division of German City Appears Complete as Far as Reds Concerned

Berlin, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Russians evacuated the allied four-power Kommandatura building in Berlin today and hauled down their flag.

This action appeared to complete the division of Berlin between the east and west—at least as far as the Russians are concerned.

The Russians withdrew July 1 from the allied Kommandatura, which had provided four-power administration for this city for three years. They pulled out on the comment that "the Kommandatura no longer exists."

They then announced they would retain their sentry and flag at the building until their archives have been removed. The Kommandatura is situated in the American sector of the city.

An army spokesman said today two American four-engine cargo planes engaged in the allied air fight over the Soviet land blockade crashed on landing in a rainstorm at Tempelhof airport this morning. The crews were rescued.

Although they walked out on the Allied Control Council for Germany on March 20, the Russians still fly their colors and maintain sentries at the Allied Control Authority building.

They also maintain a representative in the permanent Allied Secretariat there, which now has little to do but exchange inter-allied messages and handle protocol matters.

The Allied Control Building also is situated in the American sector. At both buildings flags of the four powers have flown side by side and four-power sentry staffs have been on duty since the western allies joined in the occupation of Berlin in July, 1945.

After the Russian withdrawal from the Kommandatura—an act which the U. S., Britain and France refused to recognize legally—the elected German city government alone remained to hold Berlin together.

Since then, however, the anti-Communist administration has been under constant Communist attack and several of its branches have been split between the east and west. This includes the police force and food administration.

A U. S. official told Germans in the U. S. sector last night that polls taken back in the states show the Americans want a strong stand against Russia.

Will Hold Meeting
The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Tuesday, August 17, at 8 p. m. at Highland.

The meeting will be held in conjunction with the Harlem Valley Fire Chiefs' Association and the Highland Hose Company will be host. The September meeting of the association will be held at Glasco.

Senate House Gets Some Renovations, First Since 1790

Reputedly Oldest Public Building in America; New Furnace Also Is Installed

Part of the woodwork placed in the Senate House on Clinton avenue when it was renovated in 1790, is being removed in a reconditioning of the building currently in progress.

Work of repairing the floors, a large chimney in the rear, the replacing of window frames and casings and other minor renovations were begun several days ago by Casper C. Gander, general contractor of Albany, who has a reputation for effective restoration of historic buildings.

Window frames have already been replaced in the ancient structure which once housed the first Senate of New York state, and some of the flooring has been removed. The staircases, walls and ceilings will also be reconditioned.

In 1676, the building is said by Historian Marius Schoonmaker to be the oldest public building in the nation. Its interior was damaged when the British attempted to burn out Kingston in 1777, and it was restored for use several years later.

Closed in 1947
The building was closed Aug. 18, 1947, with the hope that the work would get started in September of that year, but the project was delayed at that time.

The ground floor was opened to the public in June, but was closed again prior to the start of the renovations. A furnace was installed as the first step about six weeks ago.

The general contractor started work about two weeks ago, and it is not known at this time when the renovations will be completed and the building ready for reopening.

The contractor recently completed restoration of the Schuyler mansion in Albany, and has done work on many similar buildings. Electrical work is being done by George Martin & Son of Albany.

Only small sections of the flooring will be removed, and none of the original character of the building will be lost in its reconditioning. Most of the large floor boards which were common in the era of the Senate House will be left in place, workmen said. They will be replaced only where they are dangerously weakened.

Lots of A-Bombs
New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—If war with Russia should come after 1952, it probably would start with an atomic bomb raid on America, says Gen. Carl Spaatz, retired Air Force chief of staff.

However, should conflict with the Soviet Union come in the near future, Spaatz says, industrial limitations would force Russia to fight an "orthodox" war. He says the Soviet Union—along with other nations—may have atomic bombs "in quantity" by the end of 1952.

Dewey Will Use Issue Of Hearing

Brownell's Statement Is Clue to Way Wind Is Blowing Following Conference

'Shock' Is Cited

Brownell Says Truman Attitude Shocked People

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—The political weathervane indicated today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey probably will make a campaign issue of President Truman's criticism of the congressional spy inquiry into Communist activities.

A clue to which way the wind is blowing came from the Republican presidential nominee's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, Jr.

Brownell dropped the hint at a news conference late yesterday after he and other Dewey advisers had conferred for hours at a general strategy session in the New York governor's office. The conference is continuing today.

Brownell said the people have been "shocked, surprised and disappointed at the attitude of President Truman in seeming to cover up information" dealing with the Washington investigation into possible Communist infiltration in the federal government.

He was talking about Mr. Truman's refusal to furnish congressional committees with reports on the loyalty checks of government employees. The President a week ago called the inquiry a "red herring" designed to divert attention from lack of action on high prices at the extra session.

Mr. Truman repeated the comment at his news conference yesterday. And he added they were red herrings of the strongest type.

Brownell said the general interest in the spy inquiry was more intense than "anything that has happened in Washington in the last three weeks." That covers the full period Congress sat in special session at the call of Mr. Truman.

LeFevre and Wicks To Address Meeting
Two of Ulster county's top legislators are scheduled to address the special meeting of the board of governors of the Association of New York State Young Republicans Clubs here Saturday, relative to Governor Dewey's candidacy for the presidency.

Congressman LeFevre of New Paltz and State Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, Ulster county chairman of the Republican party, will address the gathering at the Governor Clinton Hotel, where the young Republicans will make plans for the Dewey election campaign.

Following out that Governor Dewey was the first alumnus of the young Republican movement to be nominated for the highest office in the land, President Mordecai Slikin said his organization had a unique interest in the governor's candidacy and would support him with the most intensive campaign yet waged by young Republicans in New York state.

Efforts to Hold Up Wheat Prices Fail; Sales Heavy
Chicago, Aug. 13 (AP)—Wheat is selling today below the government's theoretical "floor" in most parts of the country. Efforts to hold up the price have bogged down under the weight of heavy sales and lack of storage room.

Recent support efforts have included increases in scheduled sales for September, an official statement that the crop year's export goal will be raised above original intentions, and an Agriculture Department campaign to get producers to hold wheat on farms.

But the price of wheat continues below the "support level." The government supports wheat mainly through a loan, based upon 90 per cent of parity. Loans of various terminals are now in effect. Grain experts believe farmers have applied for loans in very

Woman Leaps From Soviet Consulate

An unidentified woman lies at barred door outside the Russian consulate in New York after she jumped or fell from a third or fourth floor window. A man prepares to come through the barred doorway to her aid. The woman was identified by police as Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, the Russian school teacher, who has been in seclusion at the consulate, despite court action to bring her out.

Police Bar Russians From Woman's Room

Red Paper Fails To Mention Plunge Says Soviet Won't Stand for Citizens Being Kidnaped in U. S.

London, Aug. 13 (AP)—Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper, commented bitterly today on what it called the "kidnaping" of Soviet citizens in the United States. It said "The whole land of the Soviets will not permit any harm to come to her people, wherever they may be."

The article, quoted by the Soviet agency Tass, made no mention, however, that a central figure in the case, 52-year-old Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, plunged from a window of the Soviet consulate in New York yesterday afternoon.

Izvestia's article, entitled "Denial of Soviet Democracy," followed the lines of yesterday's diatribe by Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, which also charged American officials with "kidnaping."

The "kidnaping" in New York of the Soviet citizens Oksana Kosenkina and Mikhail Samarin with his family has aroused profound indignation among the Soviet public.

"The fact that Kosenkina has been saved from the dirty hands of the hirelings of the American Intelligence Service—Russian White Guards—in no way frees the competent American authorities from responsibility," Izvestia said.

"It is not owing to their desire to save lives that they are doing this," it added.

In Guarded Closely
New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—A strong police guard today barred Soviet officials from the hospital room of a Russian woman teacher who leaped three stories from the Soviet Consulate after five days' alleged imprisonment.

The critically injured teacher, Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, expressed fear of consulate officials who went to the hospital with friendly gestures and tried to see her, police said.

"I do not want to see any one from the Russian consulate," a detective quoted the teacher as saying. "I'm afraid to see them. I fear them and will not see them."

Mrs. Kosenkina—pawn in a cloak-and-dagger struggle between Red and anti-Red Russians—suffered internal injuries, a fractured right leg, a possible fractured pelvis and back injuries. She was placed on the critical list at midnight.

Hospital attaches said she "rested fairly comfortably" last night and at times was cheerful. She slept very little, they said.

Excitement ran through the fashionable neighborhood when the teacher leaped at 3:20 p. m. (E.S.T.) yesterday from the ornate consulate on East 61st street, a few steps off Fifth avenue. The building had been a center of attraction all week as scores of policemen and newsmen were posted outside during the rapid-fire developments in the controversy over Mrs. Kosenkina.

Vice Consul Tot J. Chepurynsky said "The whole incident is being taken to the highest level," as the 52-year-old woman's dramatic

550,000 House Units Started in 7 Months

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Over 550,000 housing units were started during the first seven months of 1948, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. This is 120,000 units, or 28 per cent, more than in the same 1947 period.

Builders started 94,000 units in July, as compared with 96,000 in June and 97,000 in May, the peak month this year.

As it did in 1947, Los Angeles leads in housing permits issued this year. New York city is second.

Should Not Trade Abroad at Expense Of Home Industry

Handle Only Materials With Mutual Benefit, Kiwanians Are Told by Speaker

This nation's trade with the world should be limited to essential exchanges to prevent competition with home industry, George Williams, a consulting mechanical and industrial engineer of New York, told members of the local Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday.

The practice of sending out to other nations "things we need here" also should be stopped, the speaker said, and he held that there is no real free trade abroad.

Imparting that this nation could get along on its own, even in the automobile industry, was challenged during the question-answer period by Frederick Snyder, local traveler and lecturer, who said that a single automobile represents materials from more than 50 countries.

The speaker held that the nation should carry on with a "national exchange of goods," such as coffee, and materials which represent a mutual trade benefit, but should not allow manufactured articles to be "dumped here at any price."

An example of this, he said, was one he found through an investigation in Switzerland several years ago. The shoes were being made by members of entire families at low production cost, he reported, and through their sale here "35,000 men in Brooklyn were left out of work."

Disregard Politicians
The nation does not "want that kind of international trade," he charged, and "we cannot destroy our own system to satisfy politicians like Henry Wallace and others, who want us to trade with the world" at any cost.

Help to other nations to fight Communism, he said, virtually means also that they buy from us with our own borrowed money, and he held that we lose in trading with countries economically unsound.

"We cannot trade side by side with countries like Russia," he declared, and he held that "we are in a false position" when we send money to England while that nation continues a program to nationalize industry, and while we at the same time try to save the capitalist system as it is known today.

All of the "isms" he said lead to the same destruction of liberty and individualism, and he said he learned in his own travel and experiences that no system compares with that in America.

Buy American
It is a sad commentary, he said, that we now have politicians spreading propaganda which would destroy the system, and we have intellectuals "so debased" that they would use democracy and freedom for the ultimate destruction of democracy.

Asked by one Kiwanian, what we should do about this situation, the speaker said, "Buy American."

Denial Made After Reds' Protests

Ambassador Promises Public Probe of Cases; Panyushkin Cancels Date

Flout Communism

Currie Says He Never Believed in Tenets of Party

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith has categorically told Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov that the United States is not in any way involved in illegal action in connection with the case of the Soviet school teachers in New York.

The State Department disclosed that Smith issued the denial after Molotov gave him a strong protest at the foreign office Wednesday night. Molotov charged that American authorities connived in "kidnaping" the school teachers.

Smith, the State Department said, promised Molotov there would be a full, public investigation of the cases of Michael Ivanovitch Samarin and his wife, and Mrs. Oksana S. Kosenkina, who jumped out of a window at the Soviet consulate in New York yesterday.

The State Department made the announcement after Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin made—then suddenly canceled—an appointment today with Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett.

Third Protest Received
The Molotov protest was the third received from the Russian government. The fact that Molotov had personally entered the case by calling Smith to the foreign office threatened to further complicate the already difficult negotiations under-way in Moscow between the Soviet Union and the western powers on the Berlin crisis.

Officials said that a new element of irritation had been introduced in the Soviet-American relations which could cause trouble all along the line.

Molotov's declaration to Smith accused American authorities of collusion in "criminal action" center around Samarin and Mrs. Kosenkina.

This is the exact opposite of the position previously taken by Secretary of State Marshall. He told a news conference Wednesday that Samarin acted of his own free choice.

Evidently the Department will now take the same position concerning Mrs. Kosenkina. She has been quoted from her hospital bed in New York as saying that she had to get out of the Soviet consulate.

The State Department account of the meeting between Molotov and Smith was given by Press Officer Michael McDermott. He referred to a dispatch evidently received overnight direct from the American envoy in Moscow.

Currie Says, 'No'
Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Laughlin Currie, former assistant to President Roosevelt, denied today that he was connected in any way with a Communist spy ring.

Collusion Charged

Submission of Bids Shows Lack of Competition, Murtagh Says

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Investigation Commissioner John M. Murtagh has accused the city's two biggest milk distributors of acting in collusion in submitting bids on supplying milk to schools.

Murtagh said yesterday the Borden and Sheffield milk firms have entered identical bids since 1945 on milk for the school lunch program.

"The principal milk distributors are not competing against one another," Murtagh said. "Naturally if there is rigging of prices the children are being charged more for their milk."

He added that alleged collusion on school purchases "indicates there is collusion in the entire city milk market."

Babe's Condition Not Improved

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Babe Ruth, baseball's ailing home run king, showed "no improvement in his condition" today, Memorial Hospital announced.

"Babe Ruth continues to run a moderately high fever and in general there is no improvement in his condition," the hospital bulletin read.

This contrasted with a bulletin yesterday that the sick retired baseball star had rallied and was improved.

Highland Man, 27, Found Dead; Is Called Accidental

Louis Ammella, 27, of Pancake Hollow Road, Highland, was found dead in bed at his home early this morning when his mother, Mrs. Mary Ammella, went to call him for work.

A verdict of accidental death followed an investigation by Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill and Sgt. Arthur Reilly of the State Police B.C.I. It was based on the finding of Dr. Gilbert F. Schaffner, assistant physician at the Kingston City Laboratory, and Dr. Peter Lord, of Highland, who performed an autopsy.

The report said that death was caused by asphyxiation "due to aspiration of contents from the stomach."

Ammella was employed at the Sedgwick Machine Works of Poughkeepsie, authorities said, and he had attended a union meeting in the city last night. He returned home at about 11:30 p. m. and went to bed after having dug some fish worms for a fishing trip apparently planned for this evening.

Mrs. Ammella became alarmed when her son failed to respond as she attempted to awaken him and she called Dr. Lord, who pronounced him dead. The body was taken to the Carpenter Funeral Home in Highland where the autopsy was performed.

Refuses to Give Files

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall has refused to turn over confidential visa files to a Senate subcommittee on the ground that "would embarrass the conduct of foreign relations of the United States," Senator Chapman Revercomb (R., Va.) chairman of a subcommittee investigating the possibility that foreign agents are operating in the United States under United Nations credentials, had requested the files.

Mayor Extends Thanks to Moose For Park Movies

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, in a letter to Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, expressed his appreciation to that lodge for its efforts in conjunction with the department of recreation in providing free moving picture programs at the city parks during the summer. The letter, addressed to Anthony Erena, chairman of the public affairs committee of the lodge, follows:

Dear Mr. Erena:

Since it is an undeniable truism that a man's deeds are the most lucid expressions of his ideals, we officials of the city are confident that your deeds are of the highest. We are assured of this because of your beneficence toward the children of Kingston during these summer months. The movies which your organization has so graciously provided for the entertainment of both young and old have been enjoyed throughout the city of Kingston.

It is through the efforts of men like yourself and by means of organizations such as the Moose that the Recreation Department has been able to provide such wholesome recreation for the children of Kingston. This little note of gratitude could be rightfully signed by hundreds and hundreds of children, for they, with us, want to join in a resounding "thank you."

Sincerely yours,
OSCAR V. NEWKIRK, Mayor.

Former River Boat Is Going Overseas

The former DeWitt Clinton, which in pre-war years carried thousands of persons between Albany and New York and docked many times at Kingston Point, has hoisted the Panamanian flag and will be used as a passenger and freight vessel in the Mediterranean-Netherlands trade by the Brownson Company of Panama City, according to information received from Norfolk, Va.

The former Hudson River Day Line steamer was taken over by the War Shipping Administration during World War 2 and was used as a troop carrier. She was renamed the Col. Frederick C. Johnson.

With the coming of peace, she lay idle in the James River for a period, then about 13 months ago was purchased by Samuel Director of New York and brought to a Norfolk shipyard for repair.

For some reason not made known, the government did not permit the Johnson to qualify for American registry and the State Department turned down a request for foreign registry. It was rumored in Norfolk that the British government became convinced that she was destined to run the Palestine blockade.

During the time the Johnson remained in dock, the Coast Guard kept a cutter within easy hailing distance and a Coast Guardsman or two could be seen most of the time sitting on the ship's deck. For six months the Brownson Company paid staggering bills for wharfage, maintenance and repair, estimated at upward of $500,000.

With the recent hoisting of the Panamanian flag, it was learned that the ship's mission will be purely commercial in Mediterranean-Netherlands trade. One of her officers indicated possible side trips carrying European displaced persons to South America.

President May Act

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—President Truman may act on the Republican-sponsored anti-inflation bill before nightfall. This was indicated today as the White House said he had completed a statement outlining his views on the measure. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said he hopes to be able to release the statement by late afternoon. Mr. Truman generally is expected to sign the credit-curbing bill. His statement is expected to be highly critical of what he has termed the "do nothing" 80th Congress. The G.O.P. majority refused to give him price control, rationing and other authorities he asked to combat inflation.

Will Go to Korea

Tokyo, Aug. 13 (AP)—For the second time since the occupation began General MacArthur will leave Japan to witness the inauguration of a new republic in the Orient. MacArthur today notified President Syngman Rhee of Korea he and Mrs. MacArthur would "be delighted" to attend the inauguration of the government of the new Korean republic in Seoul Sunday. The only previous time MacArthur left Japan since his arrival after the war was in July, 1946, when he flew to Manila for the inauguration of the Philippine Republic.

Says Jews Refuse Try

Rome, Aug. 13 (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte said today the Jews have turned down his latest try to bring peace to Jerusalem. "They are taking an enormous responsibility," he commented. The United Nations Palestine mediator had asked Arabs and Jews in Jerusalem not to return any fire directed at them after 6 a. m. G.M.T. (1 a. m. E.S.T.) today. He received a cable from the Jews rejecting the order a short time before he left Rome for Red Cross conferences in Geneva and Stockholm. The Arabs had agreed to the request. Sniping has been heavy ever since the truce began.

Steinhart Is Named

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—President Truman today named Laurence A. Steinhart to be ambassador to Canada. Steinhart, a veteran career diplomat, succeeds Ray Atherton, recently named as alternate delegate to the forthcoming United Nations General Assembly meeting at Paris. The White House announced that the President is giving Steinhart a recess appointment subject to confirmation by the Senate at the next session of Congress. Steinhart's last assignment was as ambassador to Czechoslovakia.

Today's Friday Thirteenth;
How Is Your Pantophobia?

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(A.P. Science Reporter)

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Today on Friday the 13th, the committee of 13 lets fly with a haymaker at the chin of old man superstition.

One blow isn't going to kyo the sturdy old man, but this is an unusual one. It's the first American exhibition on superstition, prejudice and fear. It opens today to run for 13 days at the American Museum of Natural History.

To get in, you walk under a ladder. Then you're under a canopy of opened umbrellas. There'll be the tinkle of breaking mirrors. There's an ashen to receive your four-leaf-clovers, lucky charms, rabbit's feet, and other refuse. A black cat may wander in front of you.

"A black cat can't hurt you. Superstition and prejudice will," a sign declares.

One display shows a new kind of proposed calendar, having 13 months and 28 days each month. Every month would have Friday the 13th. Then, the committee feels, people would get over the idea that it was unlucky.

The exhibit marks the second anniversary of the National Committee of 13 against superstition and fear. Nick Natsopoulos (13 letters), the founder, says he was born June 13, the 13th child in a family of 13, and that he first saw the Statue of Liberty on the 13th of the month 31 years ago.

For two years, he explains, the committee simply enjoyed itself poking fun at superstitions. But then the members began to feel that many superstitions, prejudices and fears cause real trouble, including racial and religious hatreds.

The exhibit knocks in the head such notions as: That the white race has created all great civilizations; that high foreheads indicate intelligence; that "white" blood differs from "colored" blood; that a large brain always means a good mind.

With rattles and other gimmicks of tribal medicine men show how some superstitions began, and still survive. There's also a section of magic, including a money-making machine that is fed white sheets of paper and turns out dollar bills, or larger denominations depending on the sucker. That one still is being used by confidence men.

The fears that beset many people are dramatized in a series of drawings by John Vassos. There's astrophobia, or fear of storms. There's misophobia, or fear of dirt. Agorophobia is fear of open spaces; batophobia is fear of falling objects; monophobia the fear of being alone, and dromophobia the fear of crossing streets. Toughest one to have is pantophobia, which is fear of everything.

Outlook Brighter
For Opera Season

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Prospects for a Metropolitan Opera season this year appeared brighter today.

Following a meeting last night, union and management representatives said in a joint statement they were hopeful as "a basis for agreement" on plans for a 1948-49 season.

The Metropolitan Opera Association last week announced cancellation of the forthcoming season, blaming the decision on financial difficulties and its inability to meet union demands.

Although neither side would reveal what was discussed at last night's session, the joint statement said the Met's board of directors would call a special meeting early next week to consider points discussed.

It said union head also would meet with their memberships to discuss results of the joint session.

George A. Sloan, chairman of the Met's board, said: "Each group knows the other's point of view now. It won't be necessary for the joint committee of the union leaders to meet with us again. All discussion will be concluded by not later than Monday week—which is Aug. 23."

Asked if the opera season still could open Nov. 8, despite the previously announced cancellation, Sloan said the matter was up to Edward Johnson, the Met's general manager.

Would Limit Russians

Concord, N. H., Aug. 13 (AP)—A proposal that Russian activities in the United States be limited was made last night by U. S. Senator Styles Bridges (R-N. H.). Bridges, who is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said Russians should be barred "especially" from American industrial plants "lest they learn secrets to be used against the United States." "There is no place for the Russian secret police in this country," he said. He urged that Russian officials be limited to the "same narrow terms to which American officials are confined in Russia."

The air breathed during a day weighs more than the food consumed during the same period.

N. Y. Port to Take Over Teterboro

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Port of New York Authority has contracted to take over Teterboro Airport at Teterboro, N. J., to assure the development of a system of major airports adequate to handle the anticipated air traffic volume in the New Jersey-New York port district.

The airport is the fourth in the metropolitan area to be acquired by the Authority. It has been owned and operated by Frederick L. Wehran since late in 1940.

Howard Cullman, chairman of the Port Authority, said yesterday its acquisition "will assure a major air terminal for the northwest quadrant of the area and make possible a full regional pattern of airport development recommended by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Region Plan Association."

The purchase price for the 500-acre airport is $3,115,000 with existing leases to be assumed by the Authority. A spokesman for the bi-state agency declined to say whether the leases would be continued at the same rates.

The field has three 100-foot-wide runways. It was said that the field handled an average of about 500 plane movements daily last year.

Cut Air Fares

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Round-trip transatlantic fares on Pan-American World Airways will be reduced 25 per cent on October 1. This was announced yesterday by Juan T. Trippe, Pan-Am president. The new fares mean a cut of $137.50 for the round trip between New York and London—from $630 to $492.50. Points affected by the new rate scheduled include Elre, the United Kingdom, Europe, Central and South Africa, the Middle East and India.

Not So Daily Worker

TRY JEEP ATLANTIC CROSSING AGAIN

Maj. Benjamin Carlin and wife, Elinore (above), now making their third attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a 17-foot amphibious jeep, were sighted by a U.S. destroyer 150 miles off New York. The couple had to turn back on both previous occasions because of mechanical trouble. This time they hope to complete what would be the first jeep trip round the world. (NEA Telephoto)

Board Orders C.I.O.

Officials Sign Affidavits

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—Officials of locals of the C.I.O. Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union have been ordered by their international board to sign non-Communist affidavits.

Either that, Samuel Wolchok, the union's international president, said yesterday, or they "will have to get out."

Wolchok said about 20 locals throughout the country were affected by the order.

He said the action would solve the "dilemma" of about 30,000 local union members.

These members, he added, are torn between a desire for union security clauses, which can be obtained only through compliance with the Taft-Hartley Law, and loyalty to their local leaders.

Wolchok said yesterday's order would affect a number of New York city local officials who were involved in congressional subcom-

BABSON on BUSINESS

POLITICS AND PRICES
Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 13.—It may be safe for investors to assume that Dewey and Warren will be elected in November; but it is not safe for them to believe that under a Republican Administration everything will be "peaches and cream."

Stop Abusing Truman
This constantly increasing cost-of-living must be licked in some way. Mr. Truman has made some suggestions as to how to stop prices rising anymore. Whether or not his recommendations are practical during peacetime is debatable; but Mr. Truman should not be abused for making these suggestions. He is at least trying to get the problems discussed at once before it is too late.

Otherwise, on November 3, it will be found that the combined Truman-Wallace popular vote will exceed the Dewey vote even although Dewey is elected. This could easily take the enthusiasm out of the election of the Dewey-Warren ticket. The electoral voting system will help Mr. Dewey this year; but it will not help elect a Republican Congress two years from now. It is very possible that a Democratic Congress may then be elected.

How to Lower Prices
The difficulty with Mr. Truman's proposals for an excess profits tax, price fixing and rationing is that these laws do not produce more food and goods. He can reduce beef to 50 cents a pound, but the ranches will not ship as many cattle to market. He can fix the price of shirts at $2.50, but there will be no shirts to buy at this price. In peacetime such legislation would create a tremendous black market. There today are only two ways to lower prices. One of these is to lower wages which would have Congressmen have the courage to do. The other and most practical method would be by monetary means. As the tremendous increase in U. S. money (from seven billions to 28 billions in 10 years) is the primary cause of inflated purchasing power and high prices, so the only cure is to deflate purchasing power. This could be done by curbing government purchases and expenses, by restricting installment buying, and by removing support to the prices both of government bonds and agricultural products.

Has Dewey the Courage?
Mr. Dewey—if elected—may have the courage to propose such a drastic cure, but he would have great difficulty in getting a Republican or Democratic Congress to go along with him. Hence, I visualize prices to continue high until people stop buying and a national bust follows.

Wallace may be very unwise in his Russian attitude; but he may be a better business prophet than either of the other two candidates. I repeat that gross business should hold up for two or three years. It now is a part of the U. S. military strategy to prevent unemployment. This, however, will be accomplished only at a terrible cost. The longer it continues the bigger the bust.

What About Stocks?
This situation I foresaw when writing last December my forecast for 1948. I then feared that net profits would decline during the latter part of this year even although gross business remained at high volume. I yet see no reason for changing this forecast even with the probabilities of a Republican victory on November 3. I haven't forgotten what Calvin Coolidge once said to me: "Babson, conditions do elect Presidents, but Presidents do not elect conditions."

The above is one reason for forecasting that, during the bulk of this year, the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages will range between 165 and 185. I continue to make this forecast. As the campaign speeches warm up, wise investors will see that the Republicans are to be in a terrific dilemma. If Dewey is determined to reduce prices, this means devaluation, lower wages, and the removal of price supports. If the Republicans don't deflate but let high prices ride, they are headed for a bust sometime. Hence, it seems advisable to take profits when the Industrial Averages are around 185.

Atomic-Powered Airplanes Are Their Goal

Scientists at Oak Ridge, Tenn., are working on the problem of harnessing atomic power to propel aircraft. If it can be done, planes will have a virtually "limitless" range—they'll be able to fly around the world at high speeds, powered by fuel weighing almost nothing. Andrew Kalitinsky, wearing glasses, 34, is chief engineer of the project, assisted by, left to right, Edward S. Ertis, 38; Asa N. Kitchen, 27; and Jerome B. Ruble, 36.

The Great Destruction

By FRANK TRIPP

This is a parable. Once upon a time there was a headstrong son who was educated out from under the influence of his father. He learned so much and became so wise that he set about to rationalize all that was about him—to disprove the faith of his father.

The father was an inventor—a creator. He had conjured many things of beauty and utility. His devices were known to all mankind. He was benefactor of the wide world. Yet countless millions gave him neither credit nor gratitude—in fact millions discredited him and ignored his part in the comfort and security which they enjoyed. Some ridiculed him.

It came to pass that his own son joined the scoffers, set himself up as critic and proclaimed his father a conjurer of phantoms, the author of a bizarre philosophy.

He vowed that much his father had given to the world approached humbug, that he had played upon the superstitions of the gullible, fooled them as by magic and withheld simple scientific answers to seeming miracles.

The son set about to duplicate explainably, and make commonplace, all of the wonders achieved by his father—and on a production basis. He entered upon a gigantic program to "debunk" the world. You see, the son was a super-scientist—a materialist.

As time went on the son was able to recreate in his laboratory and before the eyes of man much of the handiwork of his father. Never quite so profoundly or well but with sufficient to raise doubt, even in the minds of some of his father's most loyal followers. The father's legion was slipping. His concept became mythology to those who accepted the son's test tube answers.

However, there was one formula which the father had hidden well. Its diabolical potentialities were so horrifying that the father had never assembled its elements into the destructive force he knew them to possess.

This devastating secret baffled the son. Until one day he pieced together the atoms of energy which his father had concealed in order that mankind might endure.

Great secrecy attended the discovery. Wars were fought for its possession. Then, of a sudden, man and the sphere upon which he lived, blasted into myriads of celestial meteors and whirled into space—for eternity. Man could not control his own creation. His own creation? No, he had created nothing—only meddled to his undoing.

The Father looked down upon His willful son. He had suffered him to conquer darkness, swim under the seas, fly the stratosphere, eliminate space, prolong life. He had encouraged his every useful research—and rebuked him not for his blasphemy.

The Father had observed to the last the secret of the Great Destruction—until, in His wisdom, the civilization which His tolerance had preserved staggered beyond redemption. Man, by his own deeds, became not worth saving—nor the synthetic world in which he lived. The son had ventured where the Father did not dare to tread.

The earth and all that lived upon it were no more. But the Father endureth in heaven.

the boys. We got a big alumni here in Washington. When we meet to plan for more and more democracy, we give a good, substantial yell for Harvard Law School.

"Your personnel record indicates that you are an Admiral of the United States Navy, retired," Commissar Slupp said. "Were you engaged in the first World War?"

"No," Mr. Walsh said. "That was an imperialist war for the War and the Kaiser and Wall Street. It makes a difference. Anyway I was exempted as an ally because I was Bosnian. But Ireland was neutral so, on account of my name being Walsh, I shouldn't violate neutrality. Anyway, I had flat feet and anyway they told me I should continue my studies for democracy at Harvard

Law School. So I lost my chance.

"I came to Washington in the fall of 1932 and on March 4, 1933, I got my first job for democracy in the Department of Labor. I began as junior ideologist, under Civil Service, detailed to the White House. I became soon a second-class consultant, and then senior consultant. Sometimes I contemplate for the State Department. Sometimes for the Supreme Court."

"You kept alert, I suppose, to detect any pro-American symptoms or criminal patriotism in the Navy?" Commissar Slupp said.

"I didn't go around with the Navy people much," Mr. Walsh said. "Four or five times I was arrested because the Shore Patrol thought I was wearing my Admiral's suit for a masquerade. They wouldn't believe I was an American admiral. One night I saved all night in the brig with a lot of pro-Americans and, from Crewmen at the Mustin Field Naval Base, in Philadelphia, saw a plane approach for a landing. Crash crews raced to the scene, when it wobbled slightly as it circled. The plane crashed, but no one was hurt—it turned out to be this model plane, which Chief Petty Officer Joseph Ondrechen holds. The Navy was slightly embarrassed.

Guam, Aug. 13 (AP)—The burned wreckage of a four-engine U. S. Navy reconnaissance plane which failed to return from a weather

What every woman ought to know about Dynaflo Driving

DON'T shy away, ladies, because we're not going to tell you how Dynaflo Drive* works.

Not even going to explain how this wonder-worker does away with both the clutch pedal and the usual low, second and high gears.

All we want you to get is this:

You slip behind the wheel of a Dynaflo Buick, start the engine and set a lever.

From then on, all you do is press the gas treadle and steer.

You move away from a standstill in one smooth, even build-up of power, easy and graceful as the start of a waltz.

You come to a stop light—and simply apply the foot brake. To go again, just feed the gas, without bothering to time your left foot with what the right hand's doing.

You take hills, steep grades, traffic tangles just by pressing down on the gas treadle. And you do all this without even thinking about gear-shifting.

Why—because this drive shifts for you? No—because Dynaflo Drive does away with the need for changing gears in all normal driving.

The power plant does what gears used to do—so only when you start out, park or back up will you normally have reason to touch the selector lever.

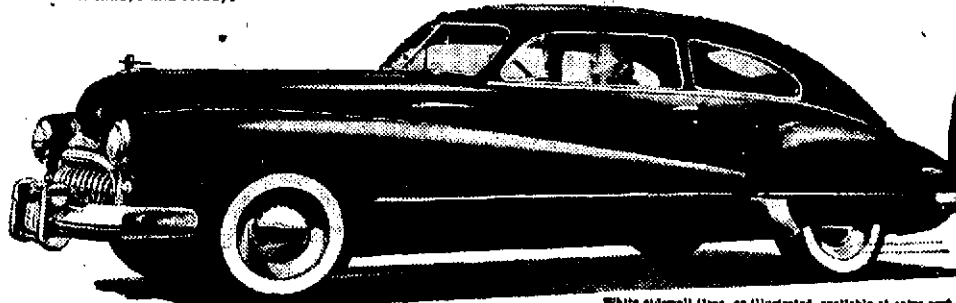

The big bothers of driving are gone. Anyone—man or woman—is a better driver, a smoother driver, with Dynaflo Drive.

If he likes, let your husband inquire into the technical side of Dynaflo.

As for you—just arrange to try it. In five minutes, you'll be saying, "John, whether or not we trade a car, let's see a Buick dealer now and order a Dynaflo!"

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

Last night I read an article by a man who is in favor of slavery. He says he's willing to start the ball rolling by becoming a slave himself.

No, this piece wasn't written a hundred years ago. Its author is still alive, and his pro-slavery article appears in the August issue of Commentary Magazine.

The author's name is Pinchas Goldfeder, and he has been a DP in a camp near Essen, Germany, for the past three years. His proposition is simple. He will sell his sinews and soul to any American who will pay his passage, and provide him with a roof and three squares a day. He says he has nothing to lose by such an arrangement, not even hope. That disappeared long ago.

In addition to several hundred thousand DP's, Mr. Goldfeder says there are 50,000,000 French, Dutch, English, Italian and Central European nationals who would be interested in a similar arrangement. These people, he claims, would rather live as 1,500-calorie-a-day slaves than die as 600-calorie-a-day freemen.

Mr. Goldfeder estimates that at least 15,000,000 could be comfortably enslaved in the United States, with benefit to all concerned. To begin with 5,000,000 could be used to do the dirty jobs the average red-blooded American doesn't relish—street cleaning, janitoring, ditch digging, coal mining and the like. Another 5,000,000 could be used as domestics, so that in addition to two cars in every garage, we could have two slaves in every garage.

American industrialists, says Mr. G., could put the remaining 5,000,000 to work as laborers and agriculturalists in the various undeveloped areas of the world that can be profitably colonized. They could be carried as assets on company books and, of course, depreciated yearly.

Most important, the cost would be low—probably no more than $200 per slave. To buy New York or San Francisco. And by using low grade foods, the cost of maintenance per head would be little more than the upkeep of a six-cylinder car.

Goldfeder says he's fed up with slogans about freedom, equality, brotherhood and humanity. Slaves, he points out, could be brought in without changing our immigration quotas, and what's more, we wouldn't even have to use the dirty word, "immigrant." He maintains that all this would be thoroughly in the American tradition, since we once carried on a mighty brisk traffic in white indentured servants and Negro slaves.

Mr. Goldfeder calls his scheme, "A Practical Plan to Settle the DP's with Malice to None, with Profit to All."

All right, gentle reader, you can relax now and unclench your fists. I've taken you in, just as Commentary Magazine took me in. You see, when I got to the end of this article on DP's, I found that the author was not a foreigner at all, but an eminently respectable and well known Pennsylvania Quaker named Herrymann Maurer. An article of his, "The Right to Move," appeared recently in Fortune Magazine, and his book on Gandhi, "Great Soul," is due to be published this fall.

Mr. Maurer says he chose to write in this vein about the DP problem because, "Sometimes you are faced with an injustice so monumental as to make ordinary arguments seem useless." His piece reminds me of one written by Jonathan Swift back in 1729, which he called, a "Modest Proposal for Preventing the Children of Poor People from Being a Burden to their Parents or the Country, by Fatening and Eating Them."

Shortly after Swift's satire appeared, an eminent English writer reviewed it and said it made him ashamed of his country.

I don't know about you, but Mr. Maurer's piece affects me the same way.

Plans Formulated For Mass Drive in City Chest X-Rays

Initial plans were made at a meeting of health officials in the department office Wednesday, for organizational aspects of the free chest X-ray survey to be conducted in the city for eight weeks starting October 4. It was announced today.

According to Dr. George James, Ulster county commissioner of health, the mobile X-ray unit of the State Health Department will be used for the films which will be taken of all persons 15 years of age and over. Dr. George W. Weber, director of tuberculosis control in Ulster county, will interpret the films. Dr. Weber, working with the school medical department, will also tuberculin test with parental consent all school children under 15 years of age.

This work will be carried on in each school some weeks prior to the chest X-ray portion of this city-wide case-finding project. All of the residents of the city and district group will be advised to have a chest X-ray when the mobile unit is located in the various wards for the purpose of X-raying the adult population.

The Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association was delegated by the commissioner of health as responsible for the publicity, promotion, and community organization which must precede such a project. The association is also bearing the cost of these phases of the survey through the use of its Christmas Seals fund.

Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary, stated that tentative plans consisting of an X-ray location survey of the 13 wards of the city with individual committees responsible for the various aspects of promotion would be set up.

It was decided by the group that a meeting would be held on September 8 at the Kingston City Laboratory for the purpose of initiating the organization of the various wards.

Miss Adele Dierickx, R. N., director of Public Health Nursing stated that medical follow-up on suspicious findings which might be noted from the X-rays would begin immediately following the interpretation of the films by Dr. Weber.

Repeating of these findings to individuals concerned will be on a strictly confidential basis transmitted by the various Public Health nurses throughout the city. Persons whose X-rays reveal no abnormalities of the chest will be notified by mail from the County Health Department.

Dr. James stressed the fact that while the survey was primarily for the residents of the City of Kingston, all residents throughout the county and any transient persons would be welcome to have a free chest X-ray.

Radtke Pitches Stauble's Bakery to 3-1 Upset Over Chez Emile

Curveball Ace Scores Second Victory of Week

Having beaten two contenders—Morgan's Restaurant and Chez Emile—young Andy Radtke, the Stauble Bakery curveball artist, can bow once from the waist and pick up the marbles. He is just about top hurler in the City League at the moment.

Fresh from a conquest of Morgan's, Radtke put a crimp on Chez Emile's pennant aspirations yesterday, four-hitting the Beer Barons into a costly 3-1 defeat. Two of the runs were the result of a Radtke double.

Main Is Loser
Clark Mains lost his second tough game in a row, yielding only three hits and fanning nine but a bad second inning proved Chez Emile's undoing. Radtke had eight whiff victims and didn't issue a walk.

The lost dropped Chez Emile a full game behind the pace-setting Jones Dairyman, two games off in the important loss column. Stauble's evened their record at 6 wins and 6 losses.

Errors Are Costly
Errors by Bob Gill and Ray Lindhurst figured prominently in Stauble's two runs in the second. Benjamin was safe on Gill's miscue, Stoll singled, Brown fanned. Schirlick was awarded first base on catcher's interference by Lindhurst. Mains hurried trouble by fanning Lucas for the second out but Radtke upset the dope by slashing a double to right field scoring Benjamin and Stoll.

Mains' single, Stoll's error and a two bagger by Gill accounted for Chez Emile's lone marker in the third. Stauble's came right back with the equalizer in their half when Felipe walked, went to third on Benjamin's single and scored when Lindhurst threw the ball into centerfield.

All the runs were unearned reflecting the effectiveness of both hurlers.

Morgan's Restaurant which needs a victory badly to stay in the contention is expected to achieve just that at the expense of the accommodating West Shore this evening. But then, nobody can tell.

Grid Yanks See Boxoffice Boom

Newark, N. J., Aug. 13 (AP)—Ray Flaherty, coach of the New York football Yankees, thinks his club will do even better this year than last on the field—and at the box office.

Getting in the first licks of the battle for patronage between the Yankees' All-America Conference and the rival National Football League, Flaherty predicted last night after his club tied the Buffalo Bills, 28-28, in an exhibition tilt at Ruppert Stadium, that the Yankees would do "better than last year" in outdrawing the long-established N.F.L. New York Giants.

"And last year we outdrew 'em by 15,000 for three dates when we both played at home," he added.

He said that while he'd been at the Yankees' training camp in Connecticut, he understood that the advance sale for tickets was running ahead of last year.

Colonials Face Five Games in Three Days

The grim business of trying to steer clear of the Colonial League cellar and winning a berth in the playoffs starts in earnest for Eddie Kobesky's Colonials tonight in Stamford.

Rain washed out last night's single engagement and the two bitter rivals hook up in a twilight doubleheader today. The Indians face five games in the next three days.

At the moment the Colonials could use a couple of long ball hitters to back up Eddie Kobesky and a steady pitching rotation. Stamford offers little relief for the two-game losing streak. Zeke

Clipper Hurler Pitches Shutout

(By The Associated Press)
Poughkeepsie picked up a pair of victories last night, but only gained a half game on front-running Port Chester in the Colonial League pennant chase.

The Chiefs swamped Waterbury with 28 hits and won, 6 to 4 and 16 to 3. But Port Chester got another shutout pitching job from Johnny Stivers and whipped Bridgeport, 7-0.

The night's activities left Port Chester a game and a half in front of the Chiefs.

Howie Atkinson of Poughkeepsie won his 12th game of the season in the opener of the Chiefs-Timers twin bill.

Bonura's hurlers are in a hot streak and runs will be scarce. If Harry Petty and Dan Rourke, the once-a-week flingers, were available for steady duty the possibilities of landing in the playoffs would not be remote. In three weekly engagements, Rourke has reeled off three impressive wins. Petty is a seasoned hurler of the type who can win the clutch.

Odell Cleckling
Don Odell's batting resurgence is one of the bright spots in the Colonial armor. Odell has a modest streak going and is beginning to hit up to expectations. Norman Jaeger's hitting has been adequate but they expect International Leaguers has not delivered the long ball. His past records show that he can do it.

With Rourke, Petty, Turner, Kanla, and "Sluggo" Eddell ready to go, the Kobeskyites appear set for the rugged weekend ahead. A single engagement is scheduled in Poughkeepsie Saturday and a doubleheader on Sunday. The Chiefs are smarting from that 12-2 shellacking of early in the week and could prove quite ornery on their home stamping grounds.

As of yesterday the Colonials were six and a half games off the first division pace, and a game and half away from fifth-place Stamford.

American Olympic Athletes Already Claim 35 Gold Medals

BY TED SMITH
London, Aug. 13 (AP)—The United States entered the Olympic home stretch today with an imposing total of 35 first place medals, Sweden, its nearest rival, has 11.

The games of the 14th Olympiad close tomorrow afternoon, but before that happens the American basketball team will add another championship—unless most of its members meet with some mishap. The U. S. takes on France in the basketball finals tonight.

By tradition the Olympic games are for individuals. No squad titles are given, or officially recognized. Following the United States and Sweden in the list of coveted first places in all sports are Turkey with 6, Holland, Italy, Hungary and France, 5 each; Denmark 4; Belgium 3; Finland, Australia and Egypt, 2 each; and Jamaica, Czechoslovakia, Argentina, Belgium, Austria, Norway, Peru and Switzerland, 1 each.

Beat Britons
In a non-Olympic, but traditional appearance, the U. S. men's track team defeated a picked squad from the British Empire, 11½ to 3½, yesterday and then set out for Paris to meet the French Sunday and Monday. The team won't be here for the closing ceremonies.

The British scored one track victory that did much to sweeten their bitter tea. The Empire sprint quartet knocked off the Olympic 400-meter champions—the U. S. team that won so easily last Saturday only to be disqualified and then restored to good standing.

It was the addition of two Australians to the team that made the difference—John Barnham and John Treloar. Two faulty American baton exchanges helped the British cause.

Olympic champion Bill Porter glided to victory in 14 seconds in the hurdles, followed by Clyde Scott and Craig Dixon, the same American trio that swept the Olympic high hurdles.

Steak Well Done
A steak which was being broiled in the second floor apartment of Joseph Yerry at 277 Albany avenue became ignited and resulted in a call for the fire department at 6:53 p. m. Thursday. Deputy Fire Chief James Brett reported. There was some smoke and smudge damage to the apartment interior, but the steak had been extinguished before the arrival of the department, he said. The building is a two-story frame house owned by the Ruckick Realty Company, of which Samuel Siegel is president.

Grange Meeting
The Lake Katrine Grange, 1065, will hold a meeting on Monday evening, August 16, at 8:30 p. m. at the Grange Hall. Important business concerning the Grange booth at the fair will be discussed. Officers and members are urged to be present.

Musical Festival Opens August 29; To Run Four Days

Woodstock, Aug. 13—A four-day festival of music, presenting selected works of talented contemporary American composers, will be held in Woodstock August 29 through September 1, it was announced today by the Woodstock Society for New Music, a recently formed group.

The festival is expected to bring eight or 10 of the composers themselves to Woodstock, either to hear their works performed, or to participate in the playing of them.

The first day of the festival will be held in conjunction with "Art Now," a two-day artists conference, sponsored by Artists Equity, which will be attended by well-known artists from throughout the United States. The first of the festival's informal concerts, or "readings," will take place at the Art Students League on the Southside Road, at 11 a. m., Sunday, August 29.

Concerts on the second, third and fourth days will be held in the Art Gallery in the center of town, in the evening. A fifth session, solely of recordings of good modern works, is under consideration. There will be no admission charge to any performance.

String quartets, quintets, sextets, trios and sonatas will be played. A chamber orchestra with oboe may be featured on one of the art gallery evenings, the society said, adding that programs had not yet been determined in their entirety.

The new society and its festival have the cooperation and support of Aaron Copland, the well-known young composer of Appalachian Spring, and Leon Barin, the society's director of radio station WQXR in New York, who is serving on the Advisory Board. Other members of the advisory board include Sidney Berkowitz, Arnold Blum, Herman Cherry, Dr. Hans Conen, Henry Cowell, Yasuo Kiyoshi, and Eugene Ludins.

The society has invited audiences at the festival to participate by asking questions, or airing their views on modern music. There will be comment and discussion of each work, and of the role of modern music generally.

"If anyone believes that no music has been written since Beethoven, or that Americans just aren't musically inclined, the society members said, 'he should come and tell us so'.

Some of the compositions to be played may be experimental, but others will be extremely consonant and melodic.

Composers Listed
Among the composers to be played are three who live in Woodstock including Forrest Goodenough, William Ames and Henry Cowell. Other whose compositions will be heard are Robert Palmer, Miriam Gideon, Harold Shaper, Burrill Phillips, Arthur Berger, Dante Fiorillo, and Richard Donovan.

The society said it was especially pleased to be able to present the sextet of Dante Fiorillo, whose genius has become almost a New York city legend, despite the fact that his work has been played extremely seldom. It took a special trip to New York, and a search of Greenwich Village, to find him.

The basic musical combination at the festival will be the Modern Art String Quartet of the Eastman School of Music, chosen because of its many years of work with new music. Its members have often played before in Woodstock. They are John Celentano, first violin; Ralph Ruzel, second violin; Klaus Blass, violist, and Avram Lavin, cellist.

Composers who plan to be present at the festival include Fiorillo, Palmer, Phillips, DiDion, Berger, Ames, Goodenough and Cowell. Palmer and Phillips both will be at the festival, as will the Woodstock Society for new music plans to make the festival an annual affair in Woodstock, and hopes to expand with the years until a composers' experimental workshop and symposium can be held. This year's project grew out of two more modest festivals held last year and the year before in the Woodstock Town Hall.

Since no admission is charged, the society hopes to finance the festival by selling memberships.

Masonic Club Sponsors Club Scouts Trip to Camp

Woodstock, Aug. 13—Leon Carey and Earl Snyder, members of the Masonic Club sponsoring the Woodstock Cub Scouts, are in charge of transportation for the cubs going to camp this week. The cubs include Bobby Ostander, Bradley Wilson, Herbie Hamilton, Louis Ostander, William Mellin, and Sonny Simmons. John Wollie was expected to go with the group but due to sudden illness will probably join his young friends at camp later.

Arndt, Sorenson To Have Showing At Smith's Gallery

Woodstock, Aug. 13—Paintings and portraits by Mari Arndt and Olga Sorenson will be on exhibition at the Mollie Smith Gallery beginning August 16 and continuing to September 1.

Olga Sorenson studied at the Art Students League in New York with various teachers and later with her husband, Arndt, in Provincetown, Mass. She had her own studio in Paris from 1920 to 1933. During those years she exhibited both portraits and miniatures in the Spring Salon. While in Paris, she had many commissions for portraits and miniatures from Americans visiting in France. Miss Sorenson is a member of American Society of Miniature Painters. She has exhibited at the World Fair in New York and one of her miniatures was reproduced in the World Fair catalog.

Arndt studied at the Art Students League under Bridgman, Boardman, Robinson and others; at National Academy of Design and with Frank Allen of Pratt Institute. In Woodstock, she studied with John Carlson. She has had exhibitions at the Decorative Club, New York city, and W. J. Sloan on Fifth avenue, and has collaborated with Paul Arndt in Oriental decorative paintings for the Watson Steamship Company.

The combination of Miss Sorenson's portraits and miniatures and Arndt's landscapes and flower paintings promises to be an interesting and varied show.

The gallery is open daily and Sunday from 3 to 6 p. m.

Do you and your bridge-playing friends like to argue over a proper bid or discard? If you do, you will like today's hand, which caused a great deal of argument at the Mayfair Bridge Club in New York.

First of all, we will look at the bidding. West bid one heart, and North made a very light double. Actually he had no values for the double. East jumped to three hearts and South went to four spades.

Should West have doubled? He certainly felt that he would make a spade trick, a heart and a club, and his partner had given him a tremendous jump. Some of the boys at the club pointed out that West had no right to figure on a heart trick in view of the big jump by East. But others argued that if that were true, West ought to get two club tricks. No, said the first group, North had doubled and, therefore, North must have some strength. So the argument went on as to whether or not West's double was good or bad.

In the play West opened the small diamond and dummy's king won. The queen of spades was led and declarer went up with the ace, returned a low spade and West won with the king.

Now the question was, what should East discard. Should he discard the deuce of hearts? It was agreed that if East had held the king of hearts, his proper discard would have been the seven of hearts. Actually, however, East discarded the five of clubs, and West, reading this as a small club, did not lead a club.

West decided that the discard of the small club confirmed that East held the king of hearts, so at this point he underled his ace of hearts, allowing South to win the trick with the king. Then South made the hole hand.

It was argued that West should have read the discard of the five of clubs as a high club, especially with dummy holding the nine-eight-seven. The West player in the case said that if East had discarded the deuce of hearts, he would have played a club, although it is doubtful that a dealer would lead away from the ace-queen. If he had read the five of clubs as a come-on card, he could have led a club safely, East would have returned a heart, and the contract would have been defeated.

Ask That Politics Be Kept Out of Water Control

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—Representatives of municipalities and industry want to be sure politics will not interfere with administration of a proposed law to control pollution in the waters of the state.

Nelson Fuller, superintendent of water at Batavia, suggested yesterday that the projected pollution control board include the heads of the Cornell and New York University Departments of Sanitary Engineering and the director of the New York State Museum.

He testified at a public hearing held by a special legislative subcommittee studying the pollution control problem.

Fuller insisted the board should not be political. In that he agreed with former State Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse.

Under the proposed legislation the board would consist of the heads of four state departments and the attorney general.

Fearon, counsel for Associated Industries, termed the department head proposal "bureaucratic." He proposed instead a board including representatives of industry and municipalities, to be appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate.

Fearon, who said he spoke as an individual, declared busy department heads would delegate authority to subordinates with the result that "one of the broadest pieces of peace-time legislation" would be administered by bureaucrats.

Clarence Runau, counsel for a group of Niagara Falls chemical-electrical industries, questioned the right of the proposed board to inspect property of private industries. He said many manufacturers used secret processes.

An out-dated oil burner can cost you more than a new one!

Amazing advances have been made during the war years by the makers of the Master Kraft Oil Burner. A new method of burning oil cuts fuel costs to a degree never before possible.

The new Master Kraft employs a brand-new principle — the DUAL-OXIDIZER (Patent applied for) ... gives double charge of oxygen to the flame ... makes cleaner, hotter fire ... gives you all the heat in the oil. Please us today for details, or come in and see this amazing burner.
